6814/124	Central Operations	Frontier Operations	03/02/2024	Leon (Food Outlet)	Yes	£3.29	Free Hash browns provided with purchase of a meal.	Attended Leon Restaurant within Eurotunnel Passenger Terminal Building in plain clothes to purchase a breakfast. Presented Eurotunnel staff pass to take advantage of discount offered to passholders. When the server asked where I worked I advised Police. Paid for meal. The server came over a few minutes after the meal had been delivered with a portion of hash browns. These had not been ordered or paid for but the server said words to the effect of "for all the good work you do". I was not aware of SOP P02e 3.12 until afterwards. The hospitality was accepted in good faith as it was not felt there could not be any significant conflict of interest with hospitality originating from an on-site business at a location policed by a designated unit. There were no other customers at the time and no concerns about how it may be perceived by members of the public. I am now aware of Policy P02e should a similar event occur in future.	Accepted as above and recognised to be an innocent mistake by the officer.

Officer initially said no to keeping the toy and said it was hers but victim insisted and said she did not use that one anymore and wanted officer to have it. She had already discussed this with her mother who told officer the family all agreed on them having the toy. Officer felt it would be good for rapport if when they next see her, they have the cube with them to show an interest in her hobbies.	Ma'am P - I have reviewed the gift form. The victim in a very traumatic case has given the officer in the case one of her Shashibo Cubes. He has been rapport building and taken an interest in these to assist with engaging in initial conversation. The gift is a genuine one provided by a victim of a serious crime. The officer has engaged well with her and she has therefore wanted to provide him with this gift. There is no intention behind her providing the gift. The officer has been transparent about the gift. Officer attended the death in May 2022 in their capacity as Night Duty DI. They were presented with these biscuits to thank them for the way they handled the investigations surrounding this death and the engagement with the next of kin	I have considered this gift to DI. The gift itself is a genuine appreciation of the work completed by the officer. There is no likelihood that a reasonable bystander would perceive that DI was unable to do his job as a consequence of receiving the gift. DI is free of any obligation to do anything moving forward. DI has been completely transparent in his approach to receiving this gift. I authorise DI to retain this gift of three packets of biscuits with his intention being that he shares them amongst his team within MCET.
